Darling Frances:-

The rumor is still prevailing that 4C will be abolished. A few fellows asked to be transferred to other places, but they were rejected because they were in 4C. It seems to be that they won't even transfer us to other places, after all. Some boys are expecting that we will be discharged this week because the top-sergeant said he won't transfer them because they are in "class 4C which will be abolished this week." I sure do wish I learn something definite about it.

Well, Look, how are you?

I'm pretty good except I got up this morning at 4:00 I didn't feel like washing my clothes this morning. I understand the boys answered fire call during the night. I sure am glad I left home.

Adios all my love,

Lovingly

Joe

Don't forget to go out to the home to-night.
